My Bulletins | Public

All your bulletins are private by default but, if you need to share a bulletin with someone that has not a BulletinWizard account, you could click on the “Public” checkbox and the bulletin will be public automatically.

The screenshot shows the BulletinWizard application interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with tabs for Person, Property, Attempt To Identify, and a user email (susan@adventos.com). Below the navigation is a search bar and a title "My Bulletins | 11". On the left, there's a sidebar with filters: BOLO - Person, BOLO - Property, and BOLO - ATI. The main area displays a list of bulletins with columns for Title, Type, Number, Date, Status, Share, and Public. A specific bulletin titled "RUG DOCTOR CHEM" is selected. A modal window is open over the list, centered on this bulletin. The modal features a lock icon, the text "Bulletin Public Link", and a URL: <https://www.bulletinwizard.com/#/preview/5a5e6487c49a98daebf8130b>. It includes a "Copy on clipboard" button, a "Close" button, and a keyboard shortcut "CTRL + C to copy". A large circular callout highlights the "Share" icon (a person icon with a checkmark) and the "Public" status indicator. The background list shows other bulletins like "POWER WASHER ST", "ATTEMPT TO IDENTIFY", and "GRILL STOLEN".

My Bulletins | Public | Share the bulletin using a public link

To share a bulletin to someone who has not a BulletinWizard account, first you should make the bulletin public, then you need to share the public link to that person. If you already have the bulletin public, you should only click on the “Copy Public Link” icon to display the public link again.

The screenshot shows the 'My Bulletins' page with 11 entries. A tooltip is displayed over a 'Public' button for a specific bulletin. The tooltip contains:

- A lock icon.
- The text "Bulletin Public Link".
- A URL: <https://www.bulletinwizard.com/#/preview/5a5e6487c49a98daebf8130b>
- A "Copy on clipboard" button.
- A "Close" button.
- Text at the bottom: "CTRL + C to copy".

A circular callout highlights the "Public" button in the tooltip. The main table has columns: Title, Type, Number, Date, Status, Share, and Public. The "Share" column contains icons for sharing, and the "Public" column contains a green checkmark and a link icon.

The screenshot shows the BulletinWizard interface with the "Settings" section highlighted. On the left, there's a sidebar with "Store Info" and "Person Info" sections. The main area displays a profile for "LIBERTY MARKET" with a subtitle "SINCE 2015". The profile includes a placeholder image, contact information (phone number and extension), email, and a badge section with a "Remove Image" button. At the bottom are buttons for "Create New", "Save", and "Share with Groups". A circular callout highlights the "Settings" link in the top right corner of the page header.

In the “Profile” section you can see a dashboard that shows your activity per day. The intensity of the colors will depend on the intensity of your work.

Also, you will see how many bulletins you have created; your signed up date; when was the last time you have created a bulletin; your renew contract date; your role and your groups.
